031.	The first significant step in the proceeding of English language towards its international language status was taken in the 16 th century when newly founded American settlements helped to increase the figure of English speakers contributing, therefore, to the history of the language.	2
032.	Further settlements followed soon after the one of 1607 when in 1620 the group of 35 puritans arrived in the company of 67 other settlers reaching the land of Massachusetts.	2
033.	New shiploads of immigrants brought a variety of regional dialects to America, which came to be settled by people of different backgrounds whose linguistic ^{accents} peculiarities began to blur forming creating a com new form of English.	2
034.	A wave of immigration In the 18 th century there was a huge wave of immigrations Irish immigrants, who came from Ireland and moved inland led by pioneering spirit, which thanks to which they managed to explore the south and the west regions of the continent.	2
035.	The population of the country numbered 4 million by the time of the first census in 1790, and the settlers were spread throughout the continent.	2

The article "World English" is devoted to the subject of proceeding of English towards its international language status. ¹⁸ The author describes the process of exploration of America and erea foundation of settlements there. He suggests that the turning point in in the increase of significance of English language's world significance in the world was in the 16th century with the arrival of "Pilgrim Fathers". Many other expeditions followed creating bringing various English dialects, which gradually began to mix up creating [✓] American accent we know today. The country's had population had grown by significantly conceivably by 1730 providing around 4 million of new English speakers. According to the writer, this was the major contribution to the language's development. ¹⁸ However, there is another point of view. Some people consider British colonisation as chief factor in establishing English as a world language. Many people all around the world started speaking English because Inhabitants of the British colonies start all arrou situated in different parts of the world started speaking English making it an international language. ⁴⁰ In my estimations, both opinions	Количество слов: 195
