The issue of urbanization was concerning people since the 19th century. Nowadays people still prefer metropolises to rural landscapes, in the world there are 54 cities with population more than 5 million. However, the urban growth is not something we should stop, it is something we just need to control. The example of successful urbanization is Seoul, which became one of the richest cities and tripled its population in 40 years. There are some views of this topic made by experts. The British stenographer Ebenezer Howard suggested drawing people away from large cities to urban regions in the countryside, and if the number of citizens became too large, a new place would be created. The Harvard economist Edward Glaeser says that cities become larger and richer because of proper education and huge fundings. I believe that urbanization is a necessary process in our world, but it is hard to make all the places on the planet suitable for living because of population's life conditions and population's ambitions. People should settle in different places to make the Earth more comfortable for everyone.	Количество слов: 180
