The problem of an Recently I've come across across an article "Urban Future" and want to share my thoughts on it. In short words, the article is about the urban problems. It turns out that this issue has occurred long ago. The first person who wrote a book on this topic was Ebenezer Howard. He suggested to draw people from huge cities to smaller ones, which would be surrounded by green belts. But overtime some advantages of global urbanization were discovered. For example economical and even ecological ones. The challenge is to acknowledge how to make metropolises more comfortable and to successfully manage the population. I strongly believe that all inconveniences, crime and thilth comes from people's mindsets. Firstly, every citizen has to be taught how to control oneself and to how to be a decent person. Authorities also play a big role in managing population. they have to show their passion for citizens and that they strive to make the dwellers' life better. It is vital to somehow compound countryside and "concrete jungle" in order to balance everything. Overall, I think that urban situation impacts people's mental and physical well-being immensely and we all should strive for better life. We should respect each other and be patient, that's how we build better future.	Количество слов: 210
